

Faculti Summary

<https://staging.faculti.net/self-versus-social-image-in-warm-glow-giving/>

Here are some articles that are similar in topic to the video, which discusses the motivations behind charitable giving, specifically focusing on "warm glow" giving, self-image, and social image.

1. "The Psychology of Charitable Giving: Why We Do It and Why We Don't" - This article delves into the insights about motivational factors that influence donations, including emotional satisfaction and personal identity.
2. "Altruism vs. Egoism in Charitable Giving: Understanding Donor Behavior" - A comprehensive analysis of the spectrum of altruism and egoism in donor behaviors, illustrating how personal benefits can play a role in charitable actions.
3. "Self-Perception and Charitable Giving: Exploring the Role of Image" - An exploration of how individuals' perceptions of themselves and how they want to be perceived by others impact their decisions to donate to charity.
4. "Effects of Social Pressure on Philanthropic Behavior" - This study examines how social influence, such as peer pressure and public recognition, affects the amount and frequency of charitable donations.
5. "The Role of Emotional and Moral Motivations in Charitable Giving" - An investigation into how feelings of guilt, empathy, and moral obligation drive individuals to donate and the psychological benefits they receive from their actions.
6. "Donor Dynamics: The Interplay of Self and Social Identity in Philanthropy" - This article discusses the interconnectedness of self-image and social image and how both factors motivate individuals to contribute to charitable causes.
7. "Warm Glow Giving and Its Implications for Nonprofits" - An examination of how understanding the concept of "warm glow" can aid nonprofits in crafting campaigns that resonate with potential donors' motivations.

These articles would provide deeper insights into the themes present in your given video and further enrich the discussion surrounding charitable giving behaviors and motivations.